The 2 cm collections provide a more stable paving on substrates which are less compact or likely to shift and settle over time. As in interlocking paving, the tiles remain in position even without grouting, supported by each other and the gravel substrate; this also ensures excellent rainwater drainage.

The product is easily replaced in case of routine maintenance operations, such as the repair or replacement of pipes or electrical cables underneath the paving, as the tiles can be just removed and then put back in place, with considerable financial savings on paving restoration costs.
